

Full Time Opportunity

Operations Engineer 2

The Operations Engineer 2 (level 2) reports to Technical Leadership and provides manufacturing expertise to solve difficult problems and continuously improve our manufacturing organization and/or supply base. Provides leadership and direction in manufacturing for programming, processing, tooling or working with development engineering on new hardware.

Essential Functions

- Uses basic concepts of Design for Manufacturability and Assembly (DFMA) and supports new product introduction
- Supports updates to management on operations status
- Participates in process improvements on a project level
- Supports the manufacturing floor for any process related questions and develops/trains other members in the manufacturing process
- Creates, maintains and develops new process documentation and updates work order documentation
- Implements complex engineering changes
- Adheres to applicable Quality System requirements and supports process audits
- Initiates and supports Process Flow Charts, PFMEA, and Control Plans

Knowledge/Skills/Abilities

- Uses basic concepts of Design for Manufacturability and Assembly (DFMA) and supports new product introduction
- Basic understanding of electrical and/or mechanical machine drawings, including industry specifications
- Manufacturing Engineering - Basic understanding of applicable manufacturing processes including Computer Numeric Controls (CNC) programming, and more

International Students Welcome to Apply

For a detailed job description, please visit: <https://bit.ly/woodward-e2>

To apply, visit Woodward.com > Careers > Open Job Positions - Requisition #2200951

Please email resume to Erick Brinker

(Manufacturing Engineering Manager-PLC/NPI | Advanced Manufacturing)

Erick.Brinker@woodward.com